Life-Purpose Section

Numerology (28/10/1): This is a pretty profound number. Anytime we arrive at a TEN we got the Godpower zero combined with the individuality of the ONE. And this TEN is arrived at through a TWENTY EIGHT, so we're really covering a spectrum of vibrations. Let's explore...

Bottom line is that this a numerological vibration of leadership and innovation. You have these qualities: carried over from recent prior life. But are you accessing and using them? This a Life-Purpose number of a visionary.

Understand that these qualities exposed within a reading are there and inherent but it is not predestined that we use them. We gotta do the work. We gotta access and apply them. If we're not, then we're truly missing our current life-purpose.

Our overall purpose is of full spiritual enlightenment, however our "worldly" one is the means we can arrive there by. We gotta use our strengths.

Right away, I'm getting strong direction to focus on this with you. Usually, it takes awhile in a reading before I start getting the big stuff. To be blunt...

I'm sensing you are not fulfilling this potential of a 28/10/1. A powerful number of inspiration and influence. The bad news: if you don't use the LP (Life-Purpose) you're given, it goes to waste and we miss out on much (most) of our fulfillment. The good news: we can start anytime. Better late than never. With the right coaching, coaxing and effort you can connect and exploit the 28/10/1 powers and fulfill your LP. What specifically is that LP?

YOUR LIFE-PURPOSE IS TO FULFILL YOUR ROLE AS AN INSPIRING LEADER WHILE CONTAINING AND MANAGING THE RECKLESS ASPECT OF IT.

What are you doing or have you done thus far to make your so-called "mark"? What do you offer the world? How would you rate your "contribution" to the state of things beyond yourself on a scale of 1-10? What can you do to bring it up a number? What are you NOT doing to fulfill this? What are you doing instead? It is said that people in glass houses should not throw stones. I am telling you the opposite: shatter the glass walls, throw stones and destroy the house you're living in (imprisoned in?).

If the 28/10/1 is expressed in its negative form, it is reckless with pride and intolerance and wracked with contradictions. This causes losses. Since this is an LP section, then "losses" here do not refer to material things so much but the loss of fulfilling your LP itself. You do NOT want to get to the end of life, life-review moment, and see what you could've done and didn't do.

You need to CLEARLY define your goal and purpose: what brand, type, etc. You need to draw a roadmap, life-plan, to execute it. No more hassling the psychological issues to avoid your work here. Put childish things behind you. The past is where it belongs: in the past. No time for it. The future is obscure and the eternal present needs action. Get off the fence.

Tarot (Two of Wands): Classic: tarot always emphasizes the numerology message. This one wants to make SURE you don't miss it.

The figure is gazing out upon the world before them with the world in their hand.

One hand receives support from one staff, the other staff is ready and available but not in use. This magi has all that is needed to execute the work they are contemplating. But all their doing is contemplating. The garden in view shows the results of prior life work. Contemplation is necessary, to be sure. Planning and gathering power, skills and tools... but action is required.

This is a paradox: for most, this card and number correspondences have less lecturing quality. But The Portal is shouting this out to you and gives us both great confidence, allowing me to be so direct so quick as you need it and are capable of receiving it. I almost underestimated you. I KNOW you're underestimating yourself.

Astrological Decan (10* Aries): Even a first grader knows enough to understand the “can-do” attitude of Aries. This is first decan Aries though: it's waxing, not peak or waning. Its power is not latent, but not in full force yet. The Portal is emphasizing your virtues (emotional, generous, affectionate...) but also pointing out their contradictory elements of your secret, inner pride and personal form of aggression. What is that form of aggression, Ryan? Do you know? It aint physical or meanness. I get the sense that you're fairly honest with yourself about your inner defects and secrets. But not yet to the outside. This takes reconciliation. To allow your two-sides to coexist and the virtuous one to dominate not just on the outside but on the inside. Be One. Not two.

I-Ching (Ta Kuo—Excess. Above: Tui—lake-marsh-joyful. Below: Sun—wind-wood-gentle): Now we go East: With the oriental insights we get contrasts. Look at this hexagram: perfect balance with broken lines at top and bottom of the trigrams and all solid lines between. Both trigrams making this hexagram have great feng-shui qualities.

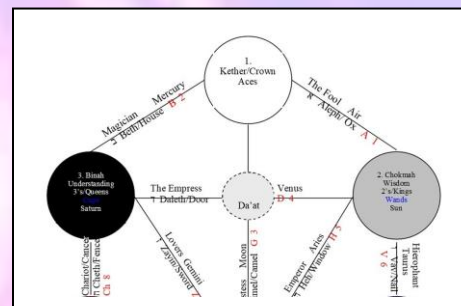

Book Of Changes says Ta Kuo represents a beam that is weak. And that movement in any direction will be successful.

So, maybe not so much contradiction from the East, but a different view of it. Ta Kuo saying any movement will be advantageous is excellent, but implies the opposite in its meaning: that NO movement is disastrous. Again... you have the skills and traits to do it all. They just need applied. The beam is there: as bridge and support, but it is weak. Make the beam strong so it can fulfill its purpose. I am being 'told' YOU are the beam in this metaphor: your power is weak, but can bridge across. Finally Book of Changes says: “the superior man stands up alone and has no fear, keeping retired from the world without regret.”

The “superior man” is our potential US; what we can and should be. When you STAND UP and MOVE, even in ANY direction, you will have success and progress. Look at the qualities of the two trigrams: lake-marsh-joyful, wind-wood-gentle... a balance of MOTION and STILLNESS. Don't be just in motion. Don't be just still. Be both. The yin and the yang are ever moving; one into the other. Polar opposites making harmony, not conflict.

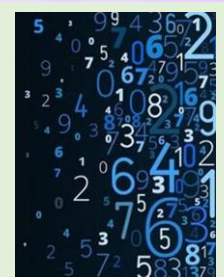

Tree (Chokmah—Wisdom): This sephiroth in your Life Purpose is Above the Veil. It is near Kether and illumination. It contains Wisdom. Wisdom must be balanced by Understanding in Binah. Understanding must be balanced by Wisdom in Chokmah. The connecting oath of The Empress is important, but not what you may think. No... it's not a girlfriend. No it's not a magical initiatress. It could be your Guru... it could be.

The path of the Empress travels between Understanding and Wisdom via the ghost sephiroth of Da'at. This is the invisible force we can tap into. Spend time on this area of The Tree: meditate on these Sephiroth. Just allow them to come in and clarify who and what they are. You're already above the veil. Just move UP and not DOWN and you're on your way. There's that message again: that inertia is NOT your friend! Motion! Movement! Rest BETWEEN actions, not instead of or to prepare for. MOVE Ryan! Climb the Tree!

SOUL Section

Numerology (31/4): The inner essence, the eternal aspect of our being. It seems your determination capacity within your LP is a direct expression of your Soul. Your soul has evolved to have power. Power to fight and be tenacious. You can see we have the FOUR here as well; also expressed through your Magnified LP.

Your soul has determination, energy and patience. It needs to be applied. Your natural ability to love freely, be accepting and generous can inspire and motivate others. You're naturally liked.

Odd... for every positive thing this 31/4 has, it comes with a paradoxical warning to balance:

The massive energy and determination you possess can become scattered and competitive, defeating itself. Organization and clear understanding of your objectives is essential. And not quite as natural! It says that when you learn cooperation and direction you will accomplish much. Self-serving preservation is not what your soul is trying to achieve. It wants expansion, not constriction.

You've got good knowledge. It needs to be organized so it isn't scattered. Accumulation of knowledge for knowledge sake is just mental masturbation. Eventually it needs to be applied. After 6 years of medical school the Dr needs to apply it. After 3 years of mechanic training, the mechanic needs to fix shit.

You enjoy proving yourself. That's good. This also needs an end-game. The overall message in this 31/4 is one of application. An evolved soul with envious quantities of layers that are ready to be used. You can reach the top of mountains. You will only enjoy the view by climbing more than teleporting. Embrace your difficulties. Don't just climb the mountain for the top-view. Marvel at the hike and scenery and challenges along the way. It aint just about the journey, but it is added bonus to the destination.

Success is yours if you want it.
It's in your karma.
Get it.

Tarot (Five of Wands): Five men working to construct a frame. Working hard. These are the five senses. But look at the image: they are all working hard, but independently, not as a unit. It's chaos! They're not communicating or syncing. They have no real plan. Jazz music without an overall theme is just noise. But when all are in sync with an overall concept, it's eclectic and wonderful. This is a card exposing the dangers of imbalance and lack of direction or CONTINUITY.

It represents mental restlessness. But here's where this Bhakti Devotee departs from the Western mystic confines: Western spirituality will tell you to arrest this restlessness and to work towards peace and balance to settle it down. Yoga, Om, Zen, singing bowls, incense, mudras... blah blah blah. This mystic says DON'T WASTE (more of) YOUR TIME!

Invest in CHANNELING your restlessness. DIRECT it! USE it! Otherwise it will just use YOU! And the herculean effort to attain samadhi-zen will be exhausting and time consuming with a very low R.O.I. Enjoy and exploit your restlessness! Apply it! Put those five motherfuckers to work! Not lunch-break! Clock IN not OUT! They just need proper supervision and clear orders! Then the house will be built!

Astrological Decan (10* Leo): A waxing Leo within your Soul. Awesome! This is what you can tap into! The strong Leo will be reliable here. A force to be tapped into. You wanna do conventional meditation? Cool. But do it to tap into the Leo of your soul, not to be at so-called peace. You'll have peace when you apply yourself and fulfill your Life Purpose! A beautiful, restless peace! An exciting peace!

With a Leo soul you are reliable. Strong. You can help others BEND to your will, not break them.

Your dramatic quality can provide a sense of theatre to what you do. Keep it honest and this theatre is productive and profound. I too add an element of theatre to my work as a counselor. It's off the charts in my creative work. Not mellow-drama. Not hyper-drama. Not even drama. Some theatre helps the audience to focus and retain. This is fun, Ryan! I see so much potential cascading into place when you begin. And where are you on your life-blueprint? You are exiting your Youth phase and entering your Power! Exciting!

I'm gonna push you and push you! You got GREAT things to offer. It's gonna pay too! (that's the FOUR!)

I-Ching (Hsien—Influence. Above: Tui—Lake-Marsh-Joyful. Below; Ken—Mountain-Arresting Progress): Look at the balance of your freakin hexagrams man!

Three solid lines dead center, broken top and bottom. It is both: a reminder to DO it (balance) and a source of it too. Book of Changes says here that this is a course of freedom and advantage to move forward too. You move, you work, you try, you will succeed. You got the karma for it. You remain stagnant or inert? NOTHING! No progress. Just waste.

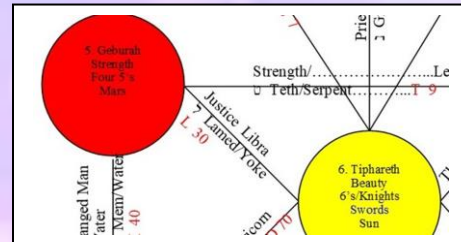

Book of Changes also says “success relies on being firm and correct as in marrying the young lady”. No. Not literal. Figurative. I'm intuiting that the “young lady” is your spiritual path. Marriage is total commitment. It says this will bring good fortune. And that “the superior man keeps his mind free from preoccupation and open to receive.”

A contradiction: free from preoccupation yet open to receive. If we yin-yang these together we get symmetry though. To marry the “young lady” is to remove distracting confusion and settle in: that's the Yin: remove preoccupations. Receive influence: I'm guessing is Maharaji. Take the vow. Simplify. Crystallize.

Let me know if this too abstract and I'll clear it up. It's not designed to be puzzling, but to involve your creative mind over academic mind. Feel the force Luke. LOL

Tree (Geburah—Strength): This is not just a branch but a full on Sephiroth and your third one. Now of Strength. See the theme? Leo, Four, Mountain... The Portal is working overtime to expose your asset of strength and power. It wants to be sure you use it. To be sure you KNOW it. Don't worry... your Guru will temper the pride of it so long as you apply it to selfless rather than selfish service.

Geburah is a Sephiroth that can be self-indulgent if we don't apply it correctly. Look at the branches leading to and away from it: Hanged Man, Justice, Strength itself and what is not shown is the upward branch of The Chariot. Your SOUL is already within Geburah. So where to go from here? Pick one, pick them all...they all represent poise and balance. I could elaborate on these four path from Geburah for several pages! Pay more attention to The Chariot. It sums up. It is better to CLIMB the Tree than to descend it. And the upward branch of The Chariot leads to Binah—Understanding, which is the yin side of the Pillar balance out your Life Purpose of Chesed—Wisdom. Just what you needed!

You can use this by meditating on these paths, tarot correspondences and let your intuition be activated. We “do the Tree” by just contemplating and applying the concepts and contexts to our daily lives. Awareness is all.

Keep in mind that from Geburah, you access Below the Veil, Above the Veil and directly access Tiphareth—Beauty, the heart chakra and core of the tree. So much potential available. Cast off the chains of bindings and lift-off!

In layman terms, Ryan: work very hard on balancing, or should I say COUNTERBALANCING. Add good to the bad, travel the whole Tree of Life, not just sections. Get off on achieving and manifesting. But be ultra selective what you choose to manifest. Consider what you've manifested already. Do you want more of the same? Or a whole new kingdom?

Outer-Personality Section

Numerology (150/6): More God power with your solid SIX being arrived at through a 150. Most numerologists do not use triple or even double digits (amateurs! LOL). But I think it's important to consider the frequencies the base number is arrived through. SIX is a family number: mom, dad, kids, home... This one's in your OP (Outer-Personality) so it relates to how and what you project to the world around you.

Love. Family values. Togetherness. Harmony. Happiness over strife.

It is also an artistic vibration. Not a Van Gogh or Dali type, but more a Warhol, Michealangelo brand: a bit more publicly accessible (dare I say commercial). This love-art-family vibration is very logical/scientific though. This is great since love and family goes way wrong without reason. Someone has to LEAD and be logical. Otherwise the trip to Disneyland ends up like Chevy Chase in Vacation.

There's always two sides to the coins we're dealt and with great power comes great responsibility. I'm sensing you attract many lovers. That's cool and great, but you must establish honest, win-win relationships. Otherwise you get scandal and all your work is undone. You cant outrun scandal. Keep a low profile and manage your love life sensibly and maturely.

But this is a great number of children and spouse and home. It seems this is your 'audience'. Whatever you manifest, sell, provide... this is your market. You will also have to be careful not to buy into your own bullshit. We must be IN the world but not OF it!

Let me say that again cuz it is VITAL!!!!

You must be IN the world but not OF it!

Managing a true life in an untrue world is not just challenging to do and sustain. The big risk is that we can forget our true self and sell ourselves so well not only do we buy it too but become slaves sold at auction!

The message here, which I am sure the following correspondences are about to expand on, is to know your audience, remain true, honest and authentic (which you're not yet) and remain humble WITHIN. Be in the world not of it.

You've got work to do: You've got to KNOW yourself before your mission begins. Once it begins you wont have time to fix the kinks and rearrange yourself. Get in order. Mature. Get "real". Before not after.

Don't rush. You got time. Don't take your time and be lazy either! Work STEADY towards your mission. Remember The Powers of the Sphinx:

To Know. To Will. To Dare. To Keep Silent.

Just be steady in your progress. Progress, not perfection. It'll all come to together and when the starting pistol goes off you'll be poised and ready.
Poise, man. Poise.

Tarot (The Lovers): I'm not sensing this is about conventional love though it is here as well. Love is a concept. Worldly, human love can be used, in all its glory, to manifest, illuminate, provide charity, security, safety, pass time in quality... This card in your OP is about UNION.

Together. Combining forces for greater purpose. It also brings some pleasure and fun and sexy, intimate connection as a cool bonus!

Yes, this is a card (and vibration) of marriage. But what and who we marry is up to us. Career? God? Kids? Money? Animals? Status? Marriage is about union and exclusive commitment. Fuggedabout churches and vows! This aint the 80s or 90s. Or the 50s.

The point is that marriage is available and can succeed for you within this OP. You must determine who/what to marry.

Me? I marry my spiritual path. But I also have human marriages too. My wife never knew she was 'second'. She was treated like a queen and apple of my eye. Only I knew she was a romantic consort and I was married to God. Marriage is private. When it becomes about the ceremony, the guests and the production, it loses its meaning. But the other stuff matters too. What I'm saying is that all are possible but only one can be personally exclusive.

Bottom line is that your appeal to the social-family world out there is marketable and you should bank on it, but don't get drunk on it.

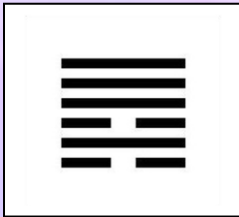

Astrological Decan (Venus—Gemini): The planet of love and the sign of conjoined twins bringing it deeper. These two correspondences are married here! And they bring you the ability to make a home: a place others can find sanctuary and feel safe. Is this an actual home? A proverbial home? Are YOU the home? Is it a structure?

Yes, yes, yes and all of the above. Again, all are possible and you must choose wisely. Because it takes moments to get INTO a situation, real effort to get OUT. Getting married is EASY. Getting divorced is a BITCH! Conceiving a child takes a second, raising one takes a life of sacrifice. The Portal is not telling you what to do or not to do. Just advising you to consider the entire equation and whole contract to know what's right for you and why.

BTW... this Astro correspondence hints about “hands”. I’m not sure why, but it’s telling me, to tell you... to understand the power of your hands. Healing? Sculpting? Writing? I dunno, but I’m just the messenger. Do you know? Wanna tell me?

I-Ching (Sung—Conflict. Above: Chien—creative-active-heaven. Below: K’an—water-a pit-danger): Now we have a hexagram of less symmetry. The above trigram is creative-active-heaven which is inspiring and cool. But the below one is the well of danger again! It seems to be emphasizing the importance again of making the right choices. To carefully discriminate what you want and where you’re going before you start the car and enter the highway.

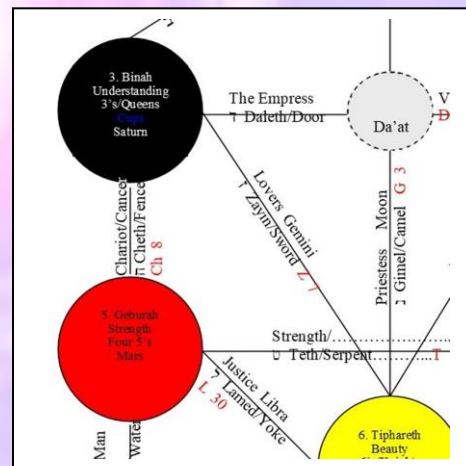

Always know there are many parallel realities taking shape and that you have options to consider. Your OP has serious potentials: for Heaven and for Hell. It is ill advised to allow your default M.O. to run without operator input! You have the intelligence and depth to consider and contemplate. It is the Strengths alluded to. So long as you do so, you can arrive at smart conclusions. Careful of impulse. Careful of self-ignorance. Know thyself.

Tree (Zayin—Sword): Yikes! Zayin is the weapon used to cleave between the true and the false! Quite a sudden contrast as it is associated with The Lovers within Tarot. Again, we have a clear connection from one Sephiroth to Binah. There is great emphasis on the need for Understanding.

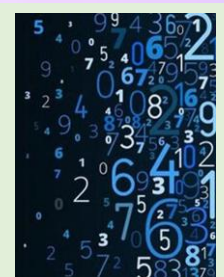

True understanding is beyond intellect. It blends with Wisdom (Chesed) to be applied.

Understanding is empathy, not sympathy. It is realization, not awareness. The Tree is giving you the weapon of discrimination to cleave through true and false. Be bold. Trust. Take the scabbard from its sheath. BE the warrior!!!

Destiny

Numerology (181/10/1): OMG! Another 10/1. Dude! This is uncanny. And this one through a powerful one-eight-one. These frequencies are tremendous, supernatural, above grade, rare, golden... My meditations on this so far are giving me lots of latitude and license to not just guide and hint for you but to PUSH. Everyone thinks they have some mission, and in some obscure way they do—we all do—but you're an agent. Possibly a type of indigo child. You were VERY far along recently and some sort of tragedy made you switch it off and get lost and make you easy to find, but hard to reach.

Your time is up! It's time to join the spiritual army or the material one! No in between shit no more! They've been waiting for you. I must have been called to wake, push-start, shock, coax, jolt... If you don't wake to this mission soon they will shut down and move on.

I am famous for being a behind-the-scenes crew member. I confess that I do not yet know the details of your mission and how to advise it (yes I do 😊), but it seems important and I am here to serve YOU serving IT. Let's look at what 181/10/1 Destiny says...

The one in your Life Purpose was through a 28, so it went minor arcana tarot, but this 10/1 is more direct and therefore potent. The Portal says straight up: your mission involves establishing peace and fellowship amongst different peoples (culture, faith, cults, religions, paths...?). An ambassador.

This is a major repeat of the list of attributes you have to be tapped into:

- Talent for influence
- Likeability
- Attraction
- Communication
- Rapport
- Leadership

And on and on.

The glitch in the matrix that I'm getting is the application of this. You correct me if I'm wrong, but I continuously see and sense that these are all here and well developed and that you're even aware of them, but they are not being assertively applied.

Disproportionate energy is being put into self-preservation, improvement and evolution. The truth of the matter (hehe!) is that your prior life work has already addressed this to near sufficient levels for this life's mission. You're young. You're humble enough to have doubt (that's good). But you're entering a span of life and years that are the Power years where what has been gained in raw experience gets applied.

Don't get me wrong: I've no doubt you're gonna apply it and make an impact, regardless of mine, or another's, guidance to activate it. If I have been dispatched to you (which I think I have been), it is to assist you to make the right mission instead of the wrong one. Probably to serve a greater mission instead of starting your own cult! Which would likely have been the outcome if Maharaji had not drawn you to His mission. Same with me! I woulda started a cult of hedonists with my skillsets! I use the same skillset for good instead of bad.

Now this is your Destiny section: it is the legacy you leave behind AND the karmas you take with you. We basically all have a karmic-bank-account. And what we deposit into it is what we will withdraw from next life. Your Destiny is the amount and type of karma currency you'll be withdrawing from next life. So invest well!

10/1 is assured success: put in the sincere effort, you will get results. Seems axiomatic, right? Not so. Many people labor for no results and many people don't do anything worth a shit and get success. That's karma! Your BRAND of karma is that if you work it will yield results. BUT... if you don't work it, it won't happen magically.

There is a profound message here too: 10/1 implies that "complete attainment and realization are possible" regarding consciousness. We know what THAT means don't we?! Again... true for everyone to some regard: that God Realization is possible in this very lifetime for all of us. But let's face it... more possible for some than others. Put in the time, put in the work, serve and be served.

The Destiny insight is a repeat of the same: lists of skillsets and encouragement to apply them to MAKE a difference.

The number correspondence gives a caution too: beware of your innate tendency to overdo and exaggerate your desires. This caution has come up repeatedly. For a reason. SERVE a greater mission, don't start a cult! LOL 😊

Finally, it says that once you are awakened you will have few limitations. That your power for good is phenomenal. Remember that power can go both ways.

Tarot (Wheel of Fortune): This card is a great study: The symbolism is powerful and advanced. YHVH (Yod-heh-vah-heh) is intertwined with t-a-r-o-t on a compass, the four beasts of the zodiac are ALL present, the sphinx is perched upon the top with a scepter of power and the hermanubis (Thoth) represents the perpetual cycle of form and desires beneath the wheel that is ever-turning is being followed by the serpent of illumination-power.

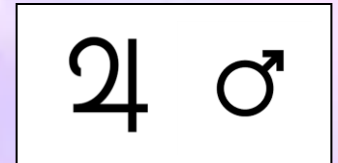

What it all means: to the kabbalist, tarot-mystic it reveals that we need to be ever mindful of the system of karma and reincarnation. That our primary goal is to get OFF the wheel, once and for all. You're now learning the couple ways of doing that and are getting into position to do it. The Wheel of Fortune also reminds us and represents that we can, should and must USE our accumulated karmas to serve our goal of ending them!

Pictures speak a thousand words and this card is a coded image of the kabbalah process of teleporting from matter to spirit. That the laws of creation are fixed, but that we can exploit them. For what agenda is up to us. When the Wheel comes around, like Saturn does, to the top where the Sphinx is, which represents the dominance of the Soul over the Body, it can be an departure point.

Astrological Decan (Jupiter—Mars): A very useful combination: the Jupiterian power (spirit) works THROUGH the Martian power (matter). This Jupiter (zero-godpower) flows through Mars (one) to manifest. I feel as though it is all repeating the same, but it is wrong for me, as the administrator of this, to spin it for entertainment value. It is more of the same message because you have a singular mission to fulfill and only how you do it is variable.

We live in a world of cult-of-personality. This is all telling you to capitalize on it. If some dipshit reality show people can “influence” the world to superficiality than you can use the very same mediums to influence illumination and expansion. Jupiter is the planet of expansion, Mars of condensation. For every hundred YouTube, Tweets, FB posts that are garbage there’s half of one that provides nutrition and nourishment to the starving. As Jesus fed a crowd from single fish in a basket, we can exploit these mediums to bring clarity. It’s your generation, man. Not mine.

Get in shape, get strong, get in command and get ‘em. Jupiter provides you with expansion and intention. Mars gives you the aggression to be assertive. Shit or get off the pot yo!

I-Ching (Lu—Treading Carefully. Above: Ch’ien—creative-active-heaven. Below: Tui—lake-marsh-joyful): All solid lines but one. These trigrams are in concert; they do not oppose each other. Creative-active-heaven is expressed through the flow of water (emotion). Too much water is drama. Melodrama. Too little is boring. Gotta be like Goldilocks and find the one that’s JUST RIGHT! Book of Changes here says: “Treading carefully is like treading upon the tail of the tiger that does not bite him.” With Lu you can create the balance of juxtaposition.

That says a LOT and you should read and reread that till it sinks in.

The Superior Man treading upon the tiger’s tail is not bitten because the tiger is not quite oblivious, but is not bothered by his presence. Possibly a reciprocating-parasitic relationship.

This hexagram implies that with hazardous position—no distress or failure.

In other words: don't play it safe. It's boring and doesn't get the job done. Do The Dew!

Go extreme LOL. Don't just walk the tiger's tail, dance on it. Krishn didn't just subdue Kaliya, He dances on his head! A cosmic dance, like Shiva. Get yer dancing shoes on...

Tree (Kaph—closed hand): Kaph is the 'k' sound of the Hebrew alphabet and means Closed Hand. A fist. But not one of aggression (but can be if needed). But one of GRASPING.

This branch upon the Tree of Life bridges Chesed—Mercy, to Netzach—Victory. And it goes both directions. It tells you to be mindful of blending Mercy within your ambitions of Victory (achievements). It reminds you to balance mercy with victory so the good of the many is served by the sacrifice of the few. The two must work together. Kaph is the concept of grasping, holding, protecting. The Tree is telling you that you need to master this concept to avoid making big mistakes.

With great power comes great responsibility. Do not AVOID power to avoid responsibility. Learn it. Study it. Build an intimate relationship with it. Learn its principles.

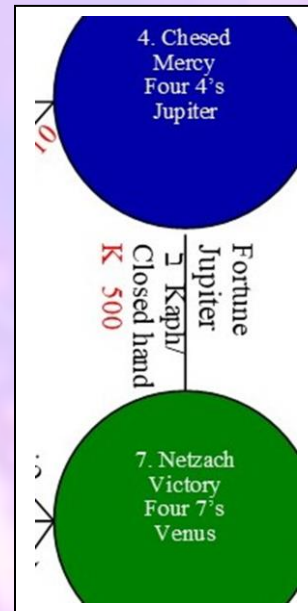

When your mercy remains atop victory, when victory serves mercy, when mercy provides and protects victory is when and how ambition and power is safe and responsible.

BTW... this just channeled in...

I am being told directly that your avoidance and misdirection of selfless to selfish is because of your prior life's abuse of power. What'd you do? Thief? Rape? Genocide? Deploy the nuclear? You need to forgive this and let it go. There is one of two ways to repay that debt: suffer the same or compensate!

You destroyed a world? Create one. You raped and killed? Rescue victims. You stole? Do charity.

You cant outrun karma. If you don't COMPENSATE for your bad deeds then you'll suffer for them. Pay it forward. Most of the people I counsel and have saved from serious tragedy are souls I damaged in recent lifetimes. I'm just paying it back. Don't do good to get good, Ryan. Do good because you owe. Do good because it's dharma. Because it's good.

SUMMARY

This insight has so many layers and slams home a very few vital points that it can be revisited and reviewed often over the years. The crux of the message is that you're entering a VERY challenging phase right now and entering your Power phase of life (a 27 year phase). Youth is over. Time to grow-up and get working.

You have all the traits you will need already built in: charm, likeability, attraction, presence... the time to apply these in a healthy, ahimsa manner of dharma is approaching.

Maharaji will provide you with grace and opportunity and the real stuff. I will remain available to help you sift, sort and apply them without losing traction or direction if you like.

The Life Purpose, Destiny etc is really quite a simple set of things. It aint convoluted or hard to interpret. Use your skillsets for the right thing and get the results. Remain in self-indulging preoccupations and it all fades out of reach.

Know thyself. Know thy mission and purpose. Until you know these things, THAT is your purpose and mission: to know them. Watch your pride levels. Watch your power and strength, but don't OVER compensate for them!

It can be very, very useful, if you wanted, to use live session time to analyze and examine any and each section to get the most of it.

I advise you to highlight and make notes on any and all areas which intrigue you for more discussion.

And I'm here to help as needed. I'm like djinn in the bottle. Evoke me and I'll help it stay clear and help keep you from the deep-end without floaties.
