

Within The Portal
Of Matt G.
(My Foster Brother)

	1					1				1	5				5		13/4
M	A	T	T	G	R	A	N	T	G	A	E	R	T	N	E	R
13/4		20/2	20/2	8	18/9		14/6	20/2	8			18/9	20/2	14/6		18/9	189/18/9

Birthdate:

Date of Passing:	11	06	1962	35/8
	12	29	2022	47/11/2

Vibration:	Number	Tarot	Astrology	I-Ching	Tree
Life Purpose	35/8	Nine of Wands	20° Sagittarius	Chin-Progress	Yesod-Foundation
Death (12-29-2022)	47/11/2	Seven of Cups	30° Scorpio	Kun-Oppression	Netzach-Victory
Soul	13/4	Death	Earth (& Scorpio)	T'ung Jen-Fellowship w/Men	Nun-Fish
Outer Personality	189/18/9	The Moon	The Sun (& Pisces)	Ku-Arresting Decay	Qoph-Back of Head
Destiny	202/4	The Emperor	Earth (Aries)	Meng-Youthful Inexperience	Heh-Window

Unusual Characteristics: Only vowels present are 'A' & 'E'. Consonants 'T', 'G' and 'N' are assertive.

His Life-Purpose

Numerology (35/8): This is powerful frequency for “can-do” types. The purpose of this vibration is to hold to the innate ability to inspire and motivate others. Being a teacher, researcher or roles of discipline, tenacity and endurance. There is a reminder that this frequency needs stability to achieve success. It is important to put in the extra time and work to establish and sustain stability. Only with balance and stability do you truly thrive. Without these virtues in place and given focus, the very strengths you have will atrophy and a Life-Purpose can be missed. It is important to recognize that Life-Purpose is not automatically destined to occur. Neither is Destiny. All features of our existence exist in a “pending” state with potential, but need to be activated, cultivated and maintained to be fulfilled. Each element of our character—and spirit—has a polar opposite; the Yin and Yang. Which one comes to manifestation is up to us: the dark or the light, the positive or the negative. With dedication and force, you will always be victorious. It never comes easy, but if your strengths are applied, success is achieved in most things.

(Matt accomplished most anything he committed himself to. His lack of conventional success in life had more to do with WHAT he committed to rather than not accomplishing things he did. He was always considered a star employee everywhere he worked. Same with sports and family dynamics: he was always the “overachiever” in the family.)

The negative side of this coin is simple: when expressed negatively, the 35/8 is doubtful, unreasonable and the “can-do” type becomes the “just doesn’t” type. Self-indulgence replaces disciplined progress. This weakness can self-perpetuate and cause ill health and bitterness of things beyond your control.

(His alcoholism and lethargy of ambition were caused by his inability to overcome his dark, traumatic past. He let his mother’s mistreatment of them become his virtual obsession. Most would: his experience as a child was extraordinary to the most severe and bizarre standards.)

Vision, foresight and a willingness to serve others overcomes these dark sides and you support others ambitions. It is always your choice: the “can-do” or the “just doesn’t”. Whichever you choose to live within, you will succeed at. Choose wisely.

(This is a guy who could ride his bicycle 50 miles to a Dead concert AND RIDE BACK AFTER THE SHOW! If he had applied the same stamina to banking or business management, he woulda been CEO of something!)

Tarot (Nine of Wands): The figure stands alone, fenced by eight staffs. Are they keeping him in, or something out? It is all a matter of perspective: which way and how we apply the staffs to guard. He also leans on a single wand for support. He is contemplative, considering what to do and where to go. Sadly, this means he's missing the obvious: that worrying is like a rocking chair; it give you something to do but gets you nowhere. Action is what is required, not inertia. Wands are of the element of air and require MOTION, not stagnation. At the end of the day, this guy is going nowhere, in spite of having so many tools to put to work. It is important to USE what you know and the blessings you have. The raw materials of life can be used to either close us in or to build a fort, a boat or chariot, to stay safe and explore with. This card is a reminder to be active lest our “calling” is passed on and wasted. To give allow us to see from the outside looking in and the inside looking out: Neither should our personal magic (the wands) be used to fence. The only staff being put to use is one of support which is the stability of true inner character you're endowed with.

(Matt allowed his past to define him and it became the crutch of his crutch: his traumas became the rationale to support his alcoholism. He was aware of the blessings of being rescued from his mother, homeless shelters and darkness by his adoptive family, but allowed his tragedies to define him rather than the blessings.)

Astrological Decan (20* Sagittarius): Sag is a fire sign and is assertive. To express your Sag decan within your Life-Purpose, you need remain consistent and balanced. The “middle-way” is useful here. Sag is going to be extreme one way or the other so it is best to practice balance to dilute the extremes. This way, you still experience the highs and lows, but take them more in stride as the “observer” rather than the “victim”. If applied, the laws of self discipline and simplicity will serve you well. Stay within your lane!

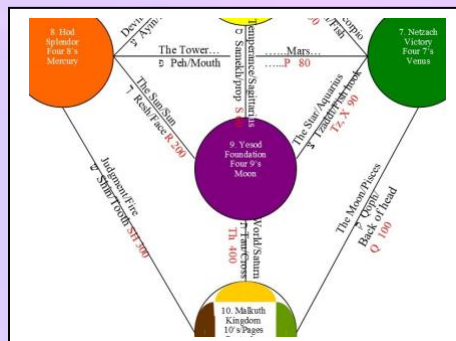

I-Ching (Chin-Progress. Above: Li—fire-brightness-beauty. Below: K'un—earth-receptive-devoted): To quote the Book of Changes: In Chin we see a prince who secures the tranquility of the people.” This is sweet: do not think this as a prince with entitlement, but as a prince who exemplifies quality and character. This is why they are a prince, not because of lineage, but because of character. This hexagram reminds you to be more concerned with others welfare than your own and it will pay dividends to both: win-win. Rather than serving thyself, serve humanity.

(Unfortunately, he served neither. While he did NO harm to any one through his entire life, he did not serve himself either. It is hard to measure what the legacy he might've left had he not lived within the walls of his tragedies instead of the skies of his triumphs)

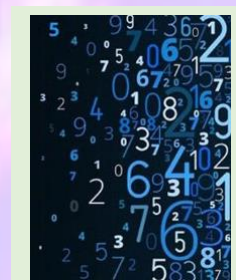

Tree (Yesod—Foundation): Yesod is the Foundation. This is where spirit finally becomes matter, but also where matter launches to spirit. It is the beginning of the spiritual journey and the final stages of the material journey. The good news, is you can go either way: up or down—matter or spirit, it's your choice. Notice there is just ONE branch going down but two going up; each on either side of the Tree—Severity or Mercy pillars of the Tree, OR... right up the center to Tiphareth! The heart! Many options and we need to carefully decide our direction and pursue it with dedication, because whichever we choose we will manifest. Up? Or Down? Spirit? Or Matter? How you live is how you'll die. How you live will determine what's next.

(Matt was always fascinated and faithful in the subtler dimensions of reality and was always in good position to lean into them. But while he admired and respected them, he did not practice or live by them.)

His Death Day—12/29/2022

Frequency of Death Day (47/11/2): Keywords: Discrimination, dreams fulfilled. This is a Master number as 47 equals 11. Eleven is the sequence of closure and new starts—the ending of the first sequence of frequencies, one through nine, which culminate into the 10 and on to the next level of 11. This is a temporary reading of a dying day, so it is revealing as it says straight out that whatever you're thinking and attached to is where you're going because this isn't just an 11, but an 11 arrived at through a 47: the number of earth (4) and of mystery (7). This temp vibration is quite clear about having mystical and psychic experience during this event. It is inevitable. It is an opportunity for choice and a clear foreboding to not mistake realities for illusions. It is clear that this applies to your time Within the Portal as it states clearly to choose wisely. The Portal (Bardo, Purgatory...) is for just that: to have an opportunity to let go of our attachments and be free of their bond or to reinforce them. The good news is it says clearly that the right choices will assure true love, happy marriage, prosperity and peace. I know you deserve it, but we're on our own Within the Portal to decide on where were going. But not entirely alone: the Akashic Agents are there to guide us and direct us to the right choices. They can't and don't MAKE you choose what's right, but they will explain it and reveal it within your Life Review and Life Preview to see what led you to downfall in this passing life and what can boost you to sweet things. You've earned them, but still must choose them before returning to matter. Free will is yours.

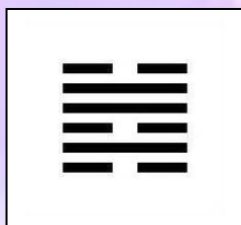

Tarot (Seven of Cups): Always a profound card to see. The magician pictured has 7 cups to select from: vanity, ego, fame, illusion, jealousy, frivolity and glamour. They all float, nebulously, tempting and taunting. This is what is taking place Within the Portal with Life Preview: we're not shown in Life-Preview what we're absolutely getting as free will and choice is determining. Within the Portal is when you choose: to live a life of spirit or to return to material ambitions. Some don't get a choice, but in this death experience, you do. The right answer is to turn away from ALL the material ones offered. It's not a "test"; it's an opportunity! To choose, with free will, spirit over matter.

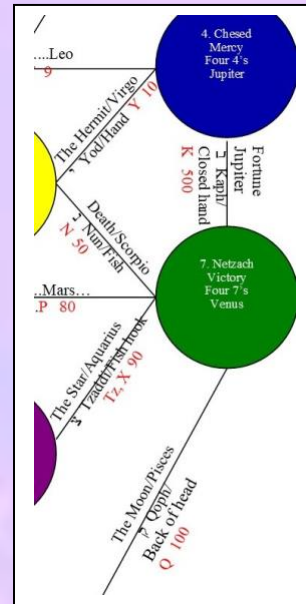

Astrological Decan (30* Scorpio): Scorpio's influence brings many, many psychic abilities here. Not too surprising since you are in the dimension of Akash where intuition isn't even needed as it is all automatically uploaded to you. This Astro influence reminds to pursue higher truths over mundane ones and brings clarity over the danger of attachments. Your time Within the Portal is revealing and preparing you for a better life of spirit if you see the error of your ways and become determined to return with new vigor and intent. You will likely be born within the same or similar frequencies as before so you can choose the "right" ways over the wrong ones and get it right this time. Good luck!

I-Ching (K'un—Oppression. Above: Tui—lake-marsh-joyful. Below: K'an—water-a pit-danger): I Ching's a bit reprimanding here! First it says there may "There MAY yet be progress and success", implying it is shaky, but possible—not guaranteed. It then says, "to be fond of arguing or pleading is the way to be reduced to extremity". LOL! In other words, don't argue over what is being offered or advised by the Akashic Agents Within the Portal! They already know what's best! It being an option isn't to really be considered, but just to give you free will to choose. "Being reduced to extremity" isn't a good thing! It such a layered prophecy, it requires meditation, but I'll help: Reduced to extremity refers to the dense dimension of matter as well as being forced back to material karmas which bind rather than allowing yourself to be liberated from them. I Ching is saying, don't argue: let go, let God! Just say to Akashic Agents, "whatever you recommend" and let THEM decide! They only have your best interest at heart and the "choice" option is a trap! When WE choose, we make choices as Stupid-Humans because that's what we are. Choose... to let Them choose! Surrender thy will!

Tree (Netzach—Victory): A complicated Sephiroth upon the Pillar of Strength. Victory is a bit duplicitous as it means many things to many people. But its core meaning is to transcend challenges, rise above, triumph over adversity. Each life is a challenge, therefore, each life is an opportunity to progress if we use these challenges for progress and fuel to rise above. There are no certainties beyond Life and Death. These are eternal conditions that repeat. But there's a fine print note: they repeat eternally unless we are victorious over them. We become victorious over karmas and fate by stepping aside of them. It's a Kung Fu thing: the art of “not fighting” is to let your opponent defeat themselves. This time Within the Portal is very nebulous: few get such free reign to choose material OR spiritual. Most people have lived one OR the other and are pre-destined to return to the one they were living within. In spite of not living an actual, practiced, spiritual life, you get a choice to return to live one. Or... you can choose the seven material illusions previously mentioned. You cant go too wrong: either way, you're coming back to good circumstances. But if you choose material karmas you will eventually use up the credit and have to start over. And if you choose the spiritual karmas, you will get the opportunity for a “do over” of the last life and get it right. Rare opportunity!

His Summary

IT SHOULD BE NOTED: WHEN I DID THIS READING, I MEDITATED GREATLY TO REMOVE MY OWN SUBJECTIVITY AS THIS WAS MY FOSTER BROTHER ALL MY LIFE.

I crunched the data of the modalities, sat down to read them, and meditated on Matt's results Within The Portal:

Within The Portal was an opportunity to choose a life of material virtues or a spiritual one. As the death day insights showed—youre going into good circumstances either way and that both would be wonderful. It was suggested Within The Portal, that if you chose the material life of love, home and family it would be an opportunity to get the life you wanted and deserved and that you may have “overpaid” your karmic debts that go round.

I can testify to this, because as your brother, I knew of your father's horrible death when you were just five or so and your mother's abandoning you and her severe dysfunction and how you NEVER caused any harm to anyone your entire life. The only victim of your disorder issues was you. You spent your final decades alone and haunted by a childhood that scarred you until you were adopted by us. You took those karmas like a man and never wavered from being good whereas most people would've become bitter and caused harm to others.

My intuition now tells me that at this moment Within The Portal--you're selecting material karmas... I'm surprised yet feel assured that I'm certainly not reading what I want to read but just doing what the reading says. If it were skewed to serve an agenda of my own or what I personally want for you as a spiritualist and as a brother I loved--I woulda chose spiritual karmas instead. However, you can expect the polar opposite of what you had and I am so glad for you.

As a spiritualist, I always hope souls will choose the spiritual option, but spiritual life is HARD. And you need a break. I'm confident you will live this coming life in material virtues and choose spiritual progress next time. Your material karmas are what most would ask for and are beautiful.